TABLE HOPPING . . .

ON THE COVER—Curvacious exotics, a beautiful tummy-tosser and wildly gyrating Go Go girls add spice to the evening, at the Pussycat Lounge, as they bounce through their daring paces and shake up the customers. Some of the customers get so shook up that they take to drinking . . . If you like to get a little high on your night out, visit the romantic Barco's Doll House. They have all kinds of atmosphere and hospitality you can drink in while you enjoy one of the area's finest groups - The fabulous Accents. They turn on the room with their bagful of tunes . . . Talk about space achievements, the top-flight Chessman Restaurant has had half the town in orbit at some time or another in recent months and they are remarkably modest about it. You don't have to leave home to have a holiday, the food at the Chessman is very good . . . Some people enjoy the cocktail hour so much they make it last all night. So if you're the kind who never quite makes it to dinner and needs a little something more than a martini olive, head for Trebor's Restaurant and enjoy the delightful delicacies from a unique menu . . . At McGillicutty's Lounge: "In politics, honesty is his policy. When he's bought, he stays bought". . . Friends meet again and again for nite-owl breakfast at Walt's Restaurant . . . Frank Alaimo of A-1 Vending says, "The Dick Lewis and Company at Friar Tuck are tops in entertainment" . . . Every dish is lovingly prepared to order at Crescent Beach. So be prepared to linger a-

DAWN PATROL

By SAM R. SCIOLINO

The fantastically versatile Roger Eckers and his band are playing before SRO crowds at the Fontainebleau. And these guys really swing . . . Herb Kircher never enjoys dessert in a restaurant - it's too close to the check . . . At the moment Western Music is the biggest magnet in local bistros. Eight more places have added the cowboy music . . . Drop in and catch the great sounds of John Freitas at the exotic South Pacific . . . Hello, Pat Marrocco. Ditto Sam Paolini, Jr. . . Murray's Office is the spot where they swap contracts for cocktails. Marguerite entertains in the lounge . . . Matchless dining and entertainment at Crescent Beach . . . Have you seen the Wee Three at Tim's Tavern? The tiniest go-go dancer in the world is featured at the Wee Blue Inn. . . At the Pussycat Lounge the gals strip down to bare essentials at the drop of a strobe light beam and the results are slightly sensational. Top exotics do their thing here . . . Coffee Royale is increasing in popularity with the "in crowd", after two ayen naturally . . . They don't give you much choice at the Top of the Plaza. A shot of scotch and a bottle of Budweiser both cost $1.25 . . . Dynamic Chuck Mangione and his quartet jam the Shakespeare lounge on Friday nights to record capacity . . . This Jet Age is too fast. A secretary got a negligee for an engagement present, and that same night it was all off . . . Fred Costello, on the bandstand at Val's Lounge, is an artist that sells . . . Bobbette Barry stars at the Robin Hood Room. She is a fine stylish singer. The fact that she is beautiful is quite a bonus . . . Chef John Reale lives up to his well-known reputation for serving excellent cuisine at the Pillar's Restaurant . . . Did you ever notice when a little shot gets half-shot he thinks he's a big shot . . . Rex Parmelee says, "By the time a man's wise enough to watch his step, he's too old to go anywhere" . . . The Accents now featured at Barco's Doll House are top-notch performers. There's lots of action here . . . At Henry's Tavern, N=1 Marvel plays the sweetest country music this side of Nashville . . . If you dig Mexican cuisine make tracks for the Blue Sombrero . . . A bartender and an owner in the suburbs might change places . . . Joe Abbate asked a restaurant owner: "Could you get a nice table somewhere near a waiter?" . . . Cotrones has banquet facilities for any size group . . . The Red Lion is a favorite rendezvous for lunch and the food is superb . . . The Crest Room in the Overlook Inn has the sort of well-bred elegance it takes years to achieve . . . Tony Natalie is overweight . . . Eddie Frederico remarked, "Nothing is more responsible for the good old days than a poor memory" . . . When a big spender tried to give a cute go-go dollie a dollar for a kiss, she told him: "Money talks, but it will have to speak louder than that" . . . Bob Dehn is an Instant-whip with the latest jokes . . . Art Delman said, "Some people have no respect for age unless it's bottled" . . . It was Bob Winward of the Chessman who said, "There are two things women like to push around and change over—furniture and husbands" . . . Looking for action? There's plenty nightly at Bavaria Downs. . . . Dine out tonight.

The South Pacific Restaurant was created to give you an utterly charming and beautiful retreat for your favorite form of relaxation. Musical entertainment on weekends is provided by dynamic singer John Fretas and his orchestra . . . One of the most intimate and colorful lounges in the area is the Crest Room. Stop in for before or after dinner drinks and enjoy the pleasant atmosphere and relaxing hospitality . . . If you have a special occasion coming up, the Passport Restaurant is the place to do your celebrating. Your host Ben Manning wins Spotlight Magazine's Restaurant of the Month Trophy . . . Overheard at Eddie's Chop House: "He's very pleased - she's the best little secretary he ever got his hands on" . . . The tuneful melodies of the Don Stocton Trio enchant customers visiting Tim's Tavern, a delightful new rendezvous . . . Enjoy a marvelous meal at the Red Lion Restaurant. The atmosphere and cuisine are completely authentic. Gourmets rave about the fine selection of beverages and special dishes served here . . . At the Shakespeare: "He doesn't play around during office hours—he likes them naughty but nights . . . You don't need a special key to get into the Pussycat Lounge, just a mild sense of adventure . . . Frankie Mauro of the Pillars makes a special martini for the gals with two olives . . . Personality gal Marguerite plays and sings before a happy crowd at Murray's Office, where the fun never sets . . . Singer Sammy Dee is destined for greatness . . . Bartender Jim Comitello sells tires in his spare time . . . The Highland Inn is a lively place and far more swinging than the average bistro . . . Suddenly the Robin Hood Room has become one of the "in" spots. There's music and general merriment with the talented Frankie Nan Trio on hand to please the crowd.
