Most Reverend James E. Kearney, D.D.

JUBILEE TRIBUTE TO BISHOP KEARNEY BY MONSIGNOR BERGAN

Delivered at the Pro-Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, November 11, 1947, during the Solemn Pontifical Mass marking the tenth anniversary of the installation of the Most Rev. James Edward Kearney, D.D., as fifth Bishop of Rochester. This was the last public address of Monsignor Bergan.

May it please Your Excellency, the Most Reverend Bishop of Rochester—Right Reverend and Very Reverend Monsignori—Very Reverend and Reverend Fathers—Dear Sisters, and Beloved Laity in Christ.

When the great St. Vincent de Paul started out from his father's house to commence his studies for the priesthood, it is narrated that Vincent's father and a few relatives accompanied him along the road. When they came to the crossroads, one of which was to lead Vincent to the city where the seminary was located, the boy took an affectionate leave of his father, and proceeded on his journey, alone. We are told that the father of Vincent de Paul turned to the group about him and said, "I know that my boy, Vincent, will be a good priest because he has a kind heart."

If we may be allowed to borrow the words of Vincent de Paul's father, I think that they can be fittingly applied to our own Bishop, who because of the great kindness and generosity of his heart, has proved himself to be an excellent priest and lovable Bishop.

Ten years ago today in this Cathedral most of us saw for the first time the Bishop whom the Holy Father had sent to rule the Diocese of Rochester. Unknown, he had come to us from the distant diocese of Salt Lake City, but swiftly by his magnetic personality, by his great genius in drawing himself close to his people, by his untiring zeal in going about the diocese performing his spiritual labors, never sparing himself from appearing at every possible function connected with parish life, he captured our hearts, and endeared himself to us. He hurried from one end of the diocese to the other, making himself available for every phase of religious activity.

He became so reckless and prodigal in his labors that we of lesser courage, and smaller generosity of soul thought at times that he was being imposed upon, and was spending himself needlessly. His kind, generous heart refused to recognize any limits of physical endurance when he felt that his presence as Bishop would aid any cause for the good of religion and of the Church.

In the years that Bishop Kearney has been with us, the spiritual life of the diocese has been vitalized and energized by his incessant encouragement of spiritual devotions of every nature. Again and again priests and people have been exhorted through his communications to make strong the temple of faith within our soul. His personal attendance at so many of these spiritual activities has lent to them the encouragement, the leadership, the inspiration of his office as Bishop of this diocese.

The world disasters of the past several years have thwarted greatly the material expansion of religion in this diocese. Yet, notwithstanding all the obstacles, great things have been accomplished, and others are in the making.

Many of our churches have been beautified and set in order. Nazareth College for Women has been built. St. Mary's Hospital is numbered among our great institutions in the city. A campaign to construct a new St. Andrew's Seminary has been successfully carried out. Within the past few weeks plans for a college for men, have been presented to the people of this diocese.

We cite these things, so well known to you, simply to illustrate further that there has been no activity spiritual or material which has not received attention from our Bishop's kind heart.

Today, in connection with the celebration of Bishop Kearney's Tenth Anniversary as Bishop of Rochester, we are witnessing another gracious and generous act on his part. Upon his recommendation twenty-four priests of this Diocese are receiving honors from Our Holy Father.

Each one of us who has been designated, fully appreciates the fact that as an individual it is not we who have merited this honor, but because of the work to which we have been assigned, the honor is given to our office.

The only justifiable pride that we may take in being so honored is that Our Bishop has judged that our labors for the welfare of the Church in this diocese have met with his approval. For that we most humbly and gratefully thank His Excellency.

It has been strikingly said that in the world today, Christ has no other hands with which to bless the people than the hands of the priest. He has no other feet on which to go about doing good than the feet of the priest.

There are many tears in the world. It is the work of the priest to wipe away those tears: to soothe the heads crowned with the thorns of life: to heal the hearts crushed by the sorrows and disappointments of life's struggles.

Bishop Kearney, your priests and your people think that you have performed these great acts of Christ, by your zealous life as a priest and as a Bishop. It is the prayer and the hope today of your diocesans that God will be generous and kind to you down through the years, because your great heart has manifested kindness and generosity to your priests and to your people.

In conclusion may I use the prayer which Tobias prayed for his son:

"May your journey through life be a happy one. May God be with you on the way, and may His angel accompany you."

A HISTORY OF ST. MONICA'S PARISH

One night in 1935, the children of Saint Monica's School gave a pageant in honor of Monsignor Brophy. As the curtain rose, a young priest was depicted riding his bicycle through the wheat fields along Genesee Street looking over the site of a new parish. This was a dramatization of the opening scene in the glorious history of St. Monica's which began fifty years ago. In June 1898, Bishop McQuaid appointed Father Brophy pastor of a parish to be formed in the south-western portion of the Immaculate Conception Parish. The new pastor visited the Catholic families in this district and found about sixty-five families who were living within the new parish boundaries.

THE FIRST PASTOR

The first pastor, the Reverend John P. Brophy was born at Shortsville, N. Y., October 10, 1867 and was educated for the priesthood at St. Andrew's Seminary, Rochester, N. Y., St. Joseph's Seminary, Troy, N. Y., and St. Bernard's Seminary, Rochester, N. Y. He was ordained by Bishop McQuaid on June 8, 1895. Father Brophy had taught for three years at St. Andrew's Seminary before being assigned the work of starting a new parish. The difficulties and hardships which he encountered in the early days of St. Monica's can be appreciated when we recall a newspaper interview which Father Brophy had when he had completed 35 years as pastor of St. Monica's. "There were any number of times," Father Brophy said, "when I walked down town because I lacked the necessary five cents to pay the car fare, but I never thought about it as a hardship." Speaking of the first winter Father Brophy said, "Father and Mother sent us a load of turnips and carrots in the fall and somehow we got through the winter. Youth is wonderful." Veteran members of the congregation tell us that Father Brophy was not only parish priest but also sexton during the early days of St. Monica's.

THE CHURCH AND SCHOOL BUILDING

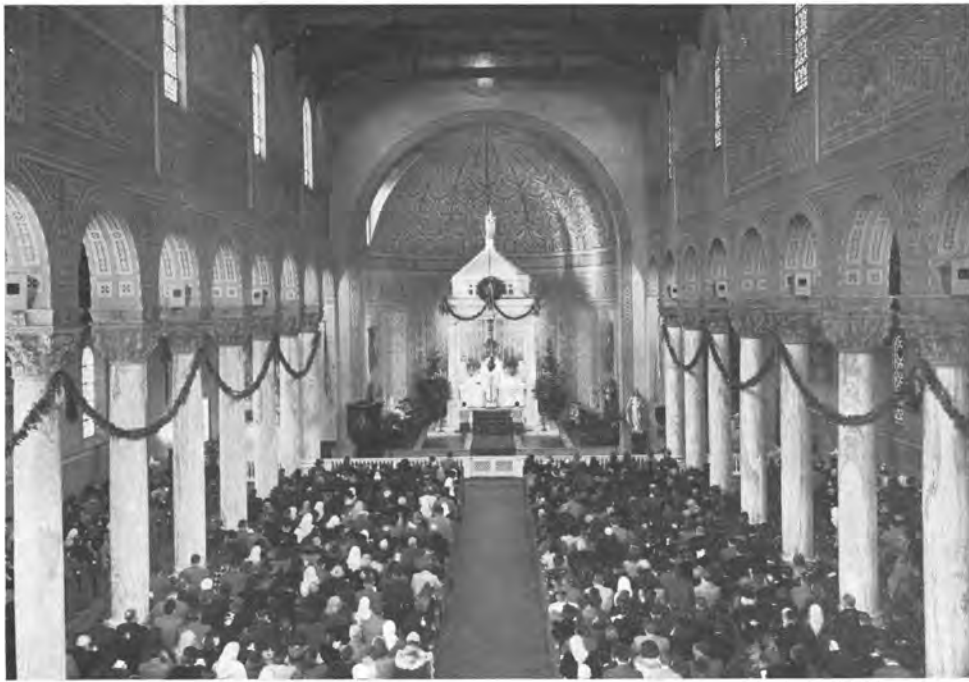

St. Bernard's Seminary owned a tract of land on Genesee Street. It was about 500 feet from the city line and a mile and three-eighths from the Immaculate Conception Parish Church. St. Monica's Church corporation purchased some of this ground at a price of $3800. A contract was let to M. C. Mahoney for building a combination church and school. The price including a few extras was $9,995. F. G. Rossney did the plumbing. E. J. Rice put in the heating system. W. F. Kelly was the architect. The building was a two-story brick building facing Genesee Street. The first floor contained four large schoolrooms which were "well lighted and ventilated in accordance with the most modern ideas" at the time. The Church proper was on the second floor. This was the 17th Catholic Church to be erected in Rochester. The building was finished for the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, December 8, 1898. The same day, the pastor blessed the Church and said the first Mass. On the first of January, 1899, Bishop McQuaid dedicated the new building. Two days later, the school opened with six grades and three teachers: Sister M. Regina, Sister M. Hortensia and Sister Mary John. Sixty-seven pupils were present.

EARLY FINANCES

The first subscription for the building of the new church amounted to $981.00. At a fair held in November, 1898, in the Immaculate Conception Hall $3,610.25 was realized. A sample of the regular revenues during 1899 is as follows: On January 22, the School collection was $29.57, the Sunday collection was $11.29, and the Door collection was $1.20. The total cash receipts for 1899 were $4,752.46. A summer carnival was held in July 1900 in a tent back of the school. Total receipts were $1,023.36.

EARLY SPIRITUALITY

On May 7, 1899 Bishop McQuaid gave First Holy Communion to the first class that received in the new church. For three days before January 1, 1901 a triduum was held and at the Midnight Mass on New Year's Eve, about five hundred people went to Holy Communion. On June 16, 1901 Bishop McQuaid confirmed the first class in St. Monica's. During the Lenten season of 1902 the children were requested to attend Mass daily and almost the entire school was present every morning. At the end of Lent they were congratulated not only for the good they had done for themselves, but also for the blessing they had brought upon the parish which was apparent in the increased attendance at Sunday Mass. Forty Hours devotion began on May 3, 1903. There was also a retreat for the men of the parish at the same time. The preachers were Fathers Hickey, Breen, Payne, O'Neill, Gleason, and Bresnihan. At the end of the retreat, May 10, 1903, the Holy Name Society was formed.

THE NEXT TEN YEARS

1904—There were 230 pupils in the nine grades of the School. The teachers were Sister Aloysia, Sister Julia, Sister Liugia, Sister Francis Paula and Sister Athanasia. On June 11, 1904 Father Zwierlein began to help with Sunday work at St. Monica's.

1905—On June 8th the Tenth Anniversary of Father Brophy, a check for $6,500 was given to the pastor by the people of the parish to apply on the church debt.

1906—On June 1st at a meeting of the Trustees it was agreed to borrow $10,000 for the enlarging of the present school building.

1907—On September 8, after returning from Europe, Father Frederick Zwierlein began again to help with Sunday work at St. Monica's. For twenty-nine years Doctor Zwierlein was closely associated with this parish. Many still remember his scholarly sermons on historical and timely subjects.

1908—On June 28th Rev. Stephen J. Byrne was appointed the first regular assistant.

1909—On October 3rd a meeting of the young men of the parish was called to form a young men's club. It was planned to have basketball, billiards, pool and a reading room.

1910—On October 10th Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli visited our school; it was the first time the children of St. Monica's saw a cardinal.

1911—On June 25th, the Reverend Augustine Timmerman was appointed assistant at St. Monica's.

1912—In July a circus for the benefit of the Church was held at West High Grounds. About 7,000 people attended.

1913—On August 1st Father Timmerman was appointed chaplain to the Elmira Reformatory. On August 31, 1913, the Rev. Francis Moffett was appointed assistant to St. Monica's.

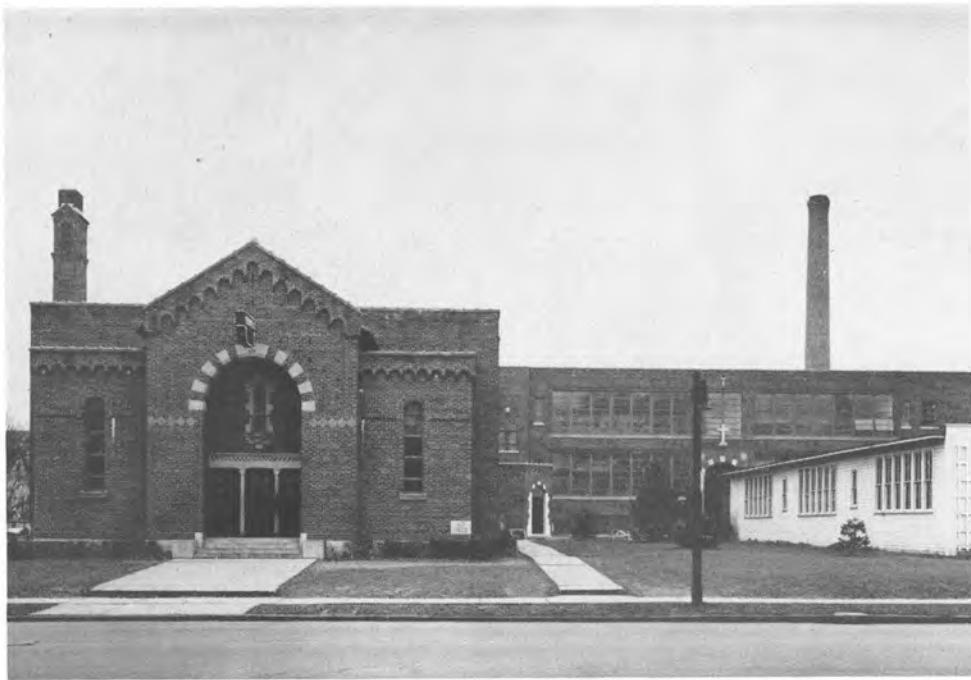

THE NEW CHURCH

The time had arrived when the building of a new church was necessary. On October 21st, 1913 a meeting of the whole parish was called to consider the matter. At the conclusion of the meeting it was the unanimous opinion that construction should be started. For six weeks a census of the parish was taken and the good people of St. Monica's promised to give $15,000 for the building of a new church. On October 4th, 1914 the cornerstone was laid. On January 30, 1915 Mass was said in the new church for the first time by Father Brophy. On the following day it was blessed by Bishop Hickey.

Two very remarkable things about the new St. Monica's Church are its inspiring beauty and the very small cost at which this church was constructed. The cost of the church itself which included construction work and materials, plumbing, heating, electrical work, etc. was $65,020.10. The cost of the Church furnishings which included pews, organ, decorations, high altar, hardware, surveying, windows and stations, architect's fee, etc. was $10,181.16. The total cost of the Church (April 1, 1915)

Convent

Hall—New School—Old Annex

was $75,201.26. One detail of St. Monica's Church which illustrates the fine business acumen of Father Brophy is the beautiful marble pillars. The total cost of each of these twenty marble pillars as they stand today was less than $275 apiece.

THE PARKING LOT

Members of St. Monica's attending church services today enjoy the luxury of one of the finest parking lots in the city. This was provided for in 1926 when Father Brophy purchased from George Goodberlet the property fronting on Genesee Street and comprising approximately two and one-half acres. In September 1932, lot nineteen on Sawyer Street was purchased by the church corporation to be used as an entrance to the parking station.

THE CONVENT

Down through the years one of the great needs of St. Monica's was a fitting convent for the Sisters. Previous to 1907, the Sisters lived on the corner of Main and Genesee Streets at the former site of the St. Mary's Orphan Asylum. In all kinds of weather, the Sisters would walk to St. Monica's each morning carrying their lunches with them and in the late afternoon, after teaching all day, they would walk back again to the Orphan Asylum. In 1907, St. Monica's Church purchased from the Reinhart estate a house that would serve as a convent. This house, located across the street from the school on Genesee Street, was used as a convent until August 27, 1928 when authorization was given to sign contracts necessary for a new convent to be built according to the plans and specifications of Joseph Flynn, architect. Today St. Monica's convent is conceded to be among the finest in the state.

THE HALL

On October 21, 1935 the new St. Monica's Hall was dedicated and blessed by Archbishop Edward Mooney. For many years the parish had known the need of an adequate place for social and recreational activities. The first parish hall occupied a wing in the main school building. During the phenomenal growth of the Southwest section of Rochester this was converted into classrooms. The social activities of the parish then had to be carried on in the basement of the school. With the building of the new hall in 1935, St. Monica's at last had an adequate building for its recreational and social activities. Simple in design, St. Monica's Parish Recreation Hall follows the style of the Church, Italian Romanesque. Constructed of variegated brick, the structure contains an auditorium which will seat 760 people and full facilities for a true social center. The need for a new modern school building was a consideration in 1935. The new Parish hall was to be the first unit of what would eventually be the new St. Monica's School. The new hall would thus serve a dual purpose. It would provide a place for school assembly and physical education as well as parish socials, entertainment and meetings.

FORTY-ONE YEARS COMPLETED

On April 18, 1939 Monsignor John P. Brophy, the founder of St. Monica's Church, died at St. Mary's Hospital after three months' illness. The Most Reverend James E. Kearney, D.D., Bishop of Rochester, celebrated the funeral Mass on April 21st. He was assisted by Rt. Rev. William M. Hart, Rt. Rev. George V. Burns, Rt. Rev. John F. Boppel, Rev. Emil J. Gefell and Rev. Edward Simpson. About 150 priests attended the funeral. Thousands of people came to the church while Monsignor Brophy's body was lying in state. On the occasion of Monsignor Brophy's death, Bishop Kearney paid the following tribute to him: "He was one of the outstanding pastors of the diocese. In his passing the diocese loses one of its majestic figures. He was a fine gentleman, a zealous priest, a conscientious worker, a man of deep personal piety and singular devotion to every soul in his parish. He will be mourned by a large group of admirers and friends both Catholic and non-Catholic. We feel we have sustained a great loss in his death."

THE SECOND PASTOR

On May 4, 1939, the Right Reverend William F. Bergan was appointed pastor of St. Monica's Church by the Most Reverend James E. Kearney, D.D., Bishop of Rochester. Monsignor Bergan, the son of Kiernan Bergan and Mary Kinsella Bergan was born in Auburn, February 19, 1889. After graduating from St. Mary's Parochial School in Auburn and the Auburn High School, he made his studies for the priesthood at St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's Seminaries in Rochester. He was ordained June 9, 1917 at St. Patrick's Cathedral. For fourteen years he served as professor of English and History and also as disciplinarian at St. Andrew's Seminary. For four years he served as the first full-time Catholic Chaplain at Auburn Prison. Archbishop Edward Mooney made him Vice-Chancellor in 1935 and Chancellor in 1936. Papal honors came to him twice while he was Chancellor of the Diocese of Rochester. In 1937 he was named a Domestic Prelate by the late Pope Pius XI. Only six weeks before his death Monsignor Bergan was invested by the authority of Pope Pius XII with the dignity of Protonotary Apostolic in recognition of his distinguished service as a diocesan official.

REMODELING AND REDECORATING

During the pastorate of Monsignor Bergan from May 4, 1939 to December 23, 1947, three major improvements took place at St. Monica's. In August 1939 work was begun on the remodeling of the school, the contract for which had been awarded to the Gleason Company. The second major improvement was the redecorating of the interior of St. Monica's Church. This work, begun June 29, 1942 was under the direction of Mr. Herman Butler and executed by the Chromocraft Studios Inc. of Rochester. The new polychrome ceiling added a great deal to the beauty of the Church. Paintings of the Saints overlooking the center of the Church include St. Monica, her illustrious son, St. Augustine, and St. Ambrose who was instrumental in converting St. Augustine, St. Peter and St. Paul, St. Patrick and St. Boniface, St. Stephen, St. Lawrence, St. Catherine, St. Barbara and St. Cecelia.

The inscription on the walls of the sanctuary, "I will walk among you and will be your God and you shall be My people" is taken from the Book of Leviticus, twenty-sixth chapter, the twelfth verse. Paintings of the four evangelists, Saints Matthew, Mark, Luke and John have also been placed in the sanctuary.

The baldachin or canopy over the altar was elevated somewhat higher than formerly. A nimbus was placed atop the baldachin to form a background for the statue of St. Monica. Shrines of St. Monica and St. Ann were erected over the Monica Street and parking station entrances respectively.

THE NEW SCHOOL

The third major improvement at St. Monica's which was begun during the pastorate of Monsignor Bergan was the erection of the new St. Monica's school addition. Before the death of Monsignor Bergan, plans were prepared for the new school addition by the architectural and engineering firm of S. Firestone and E. M. Lorscheider, bids were let, and construction begun. The Werner Spitz Construction Company was granted the general contract for the new school. To the Howe and Bassett Company was given the contract for heating and plumbing. Earl E. Driscoll was awarded the contract for electrical work.

The new two-story addition to St. Monica's Parochial School will replace a wooden frame building and will provide eleven new class rooms and two complete kindergarten units. The new school addition is the first step in the eventual replacement of the original fifty-year old brick school with a complete modern school plant. Additional classrooms will be added to the new building at a later date as parish finances and building conditions permit. Immediate enlargement was necessary because of greatly increased school enrollment and expectations of further increases for several years to come.

Besides the new classrooms the school addition will contain principal's and nurse's offices, lunch and meeting rooms in the basement and a new heating plant. The new school will be connected with the parish hall and the old school structure, so as to operate for the time being as one complete school and assembly unit.

The new building, facing on Genesee Street, will be of fire-proof construction and will have the most modern facilities for beauty, safety and sanitation. Designed to match the architectural style of the Church and parish hall buildings, the exterior of the school will be of brick with sandstone and terracotta trim. All classrooms and halls will have acoustical ceilings with flush fluorescent lighting. All windows will be the projected steel type providing the maximum of natural ventilation without objectionable drafts.

CHRISTMAS — 1947

On the twenty-third of December 1947, Monsignor Bergan, the second pastor of St. Monica's, died in St. Mary's Hospital after a year of ill health. Among those present at his Pontifical Requiem Mass on December the twenty-seventh, were two Bishops, scores of prelates, nearly three-hundred priests and religious, numerous civic officials and hundreds of devoted friends from all walks of life. In his eulogy of Monsignor Bergan, Bishop Kearney said: "Only a life of consecration to God's work can explain Monsignor Bergan's success in the classroom, the prison, the chancery and the parish. No one could be so successful unless he thought as Monsignor Bergan thought. His thought in any post in which he found himself was this. 'God has placed me here. It is up to me to make out of this work something which I can be proud of on the day of judgement and which will merit for me a reward in eternity'."

"That was why, on the very eve of Christmas, the angel of the Nativity replaced the Angel of Death, and said, 'Fear not, for behold I bring you good news of great joy.' Yes indeed, the great joy of a Christmas in Heaven where he laid before the Babe of Bethlehem the gifts of a life consecrated to the service of God and his fellow-man."

THE THIRD PASTOR

On January 22, 1948 His Excellency Bishop James E. Kearney appointed the Very Rev. Msgr. Gerald C. Lambert third pastor of St. Monica's Church. Monsignor Lambert, who was born in Rochester in 1903, was educated in Holy Rosary School, St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's Seminaries. Since his ordination in June 1929, he has served as Director of Camp Stella Maris which he founded, Chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital, Professor at St. Andrew's Seminary, Diocesan Director of Catholic Charities and Director of all Diocesan Welfare Agencies. On October 10, 1947, he was honored by Pope Pius XII who made him a Papal Chamberlain with the title of "Very Reverend Monsignor."
