Greatest Exposition Opens Labor Day

Rochester's Exposition, with its inspiring panorama of exhibits and entertainment, is with us again. The city is proud of its exposition which is recognized as one of the annual fairs.

This year the Exposition offers a more abundant program of entertainment than ever before. President Elmer E. Fairchild and General Manager Edwards hustled to find new attractions and that they have succeeded will be evident to the crowds who will pour into Edgerton Park commencing Monday at 10 a. m.

A new feature of this year's Exposition is the Fitter Families Competition, conducted under the auspices of the Public Health Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The entire ground floor of the Women's Building will be given over to this feature.

Exposition music is one of the attractions in which the management takes special pride. The world famous Creatore and his band will give afternoon and evening concerts daily, assisted by Miss Pauline Halma, soprano, who made a pronounced hit with last year's Exposition crowds. Rochester's own park band will be heard daily at the Horse Show.

For those who dance, as well as visitors generally, there will be music each evening in beautiful Floral Hall Grove by Tom Boone's nine-piece orchestra.

The Exposition's Industrial Department will be a great manifestation of progress and achievement. The almost unbelievable achievements of modern inventive genius, the little-known part that chemistry plays in the manufacture of some of the most commonplace articles, the history of electrical communication from the time of the first, imperfect telegraph instrument to the wonder-working developments of the present day radio—these are only a few of the scores of engrossing and interest-holding displays that will be made in the exhibit halls.

How water is made by chemical process and changed back again into its elements—oxygen and hydrogen—all in the twinkling of an eye; a chemical garden containing a fountain whose operation depends upon the affinity of pendulum swung to and fro by magnetic control—the nearest approach thus far to perpetual motion, and said to be capable of continued operation for a period of 1,000 years—these are a few of the sights that will challenge the attention of exposition visitors.

Among the many working exhibits will be demonstrations of the process of knitting, wood-turning and the making of electric railway lights and signals. The Chamber of Commerce alone will have 2,000 square feet of floor space to demonstrate its well-known ammonia gas for water and in which varicolored chemicals will be made to grow and take on new and weird forms like a marine garden; an engineering exhibit by the General Electric Company in which a beam of light will be made to bend itself around a curve and seemingly to flow like water in a hose, by means of wondrous substance known as "fused quartz"; a radium exhibit, one of the features of which will be an immense clock slogan: "Commerce carries civilization around the world."

Visitors to the Horse Show will see scores of famous horses and riders—in fact four of the greatest horses in the world will be in the spot-light during the Horse Show. For the first time in several years, the four best harness horses in the country from the three greatest stables will compete together for the harness championship of America. Perhaps you all know the names of the horses and the owners—they are "Knight Commander" and "Charm" owned by Miss Jean Browne Scott of Philadelphia, "Ovation" owned by Mrs. Loula Long Combs of Lee's Summit, Missouri, and "Leading Article" owned by John R. Thompson of Chicago.

Extensive exhibits by the city's best known civic institutions, health and welfare organizations; historical exhibits—an echo of 1776 and American Independence; displays by state and Federal governments, including a marvelous demonstration of Army war tanks in operation; more than 100 different kinds of fish in a huge aquarium; the great Flower Show in Building 3—one of the finest in New York State; the agricultural and horticultural exhibits; forestry and grange displays; junior project work; a conservation exhibit of wild game and birds of New York State; Rochester's justly famous summer show of automobiles; a whole building devoted to fine arts; the Municipal Museum and zoological gardens; butter statuary—a girl and pony carved by an artist from pure butter; the Canadian exhibit, depicting the natural resources of the great Northwest.

These are a few of the things you will see at Edgerton Park.

Goodbye to The Charleston, the dancing freak of 1925. The Valencia, a Spanish piece, played to six-eight time, and danced much like the old Tango, is all the rage, according to Fred A. Otto, dancing master, and he predicted that the Half Time, another new dance, also will be popular. Dancing masters are giving considerable time to old-fashion dances, such as the waltz, polka, schottische, minuet and two-step to please oldtime dancers, or, as one expert put it, dancers fifty and up, mostly up. Oldtimers like square dances.

Christians were given a rude jolt by the young Hindu, now parading around the United States, as a modern Messiah when he said all religions were alike, Mohammedism, Hinduism, Christianity. Even Confucius was right, this Hindu claims. What's the use of sending Christian missionaries to foreign and heathen countries if all religions are alike? This Hindu is talking up his sleeve. He will find that it is difficult to convince one denomination that it is not better than another denomination.

Wonders will never cease. A girl of twenty blushing admits she has never been kissed. This would have sounded plausible in the days of our grandmas, but the eight-cylinder girl of today is kissed, and kisses, before she's sweet sixteen.

If you are looking for a ring to give to your best girl, there is a diamond of 127 karats, and valued at $300,000, which you may buy for her.

OLDTIME SONGS THE BEST

Oldfashion songs are more popular than the fly-by-night hits. Ever since Ernest Veigel, broadcaster of WHEC, essayed to sing a quartet of oldtime songs into the microphone there has been urgent demand for more of that kind of entertainment. Other broadcasters have similar experiences, and it is only necessary to point to a national census of what radio fans love in songs, which shows that about eighty per cent would rather hear "Silver Threads Among the Gold" or "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" than "Yes, We Have No Bananas" or any other song of that ilk. Broadcaster Veigel says letters of praise are always received after a popular oldtimer is given. The Holy City also has many admirers, being listed with the most popular. Here is a tip for young song writers; inject enough sentiment so the song will endure—live into the ages, and not pass off into silence in a few days. Americans may be patriotic, but radio broadcasters say they seldom get a request for "The Star Spangled Banner."

The radio is progressing faster than any other article of necessity or luxury ever did, not even excepting the auto. Few houses are not equipped with radio outfits. The radio is as essential as the evening newspaper or weekly magazine. A house without a radio is not complete. Young and old enjoy the sweet sentimental music which broadcasters are offering these days, and the success of radio receivers this Summer proves emphatically and conclusively that radio entertainment is all-year, and not seasonal. Virtually all persons from this city going into the wilds of Canada, or to the more refined, but just as interesting, Finger Lakes section, carried radio outfits along. Traveling men, accustomed to lonesome nights in hotels, usually carry a radio receiver, and enjoy their evenings in their own rooms, puffing at cigars or pipe, and listening in to the musical programs available. With a radio a traveling man, or anybody else, can while away many happy hours, and forget about business woes.

Mustaches are coming back, but will never be as popular as they were thirty years ago.

PLUG-IN NOT READY FOR LONG TIME

Buy a radio set now. Fall and winter are the two best seasons for wireless transmission, and the person without a radio outfit will be out of luck.

The "wired wireless" system promised by the Rochester Gas & Electric company will not be available for a year, and possibly two years, so Herman Russell, general manager of that company, advises the public to acquire regular radio sets now. These receivers can be operated in addition to the R. G. & E. plug-in system, thereby giving owners of radio outfits a double service.

A CHILD'S EYESB. B. Clark Optical Co., 12 Gibbs St.

One of the gladdest days in a child's life is that on which he learns to read, when the whole magic world of heroes and fairy tales opens before him so that he may enter it whenever he chooses, no longer needing to depend upon the leisure and amiability of bored grown-ups. It is no wonder that when Robin Hood and the merry men, King Arthur and the Round Table Knights, Robinson Crusoe, Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn become near and dear friends, he hates to leave them. It is no wonder that a youngster who enjoys reading at all is more than likely to read too much, at any time and any place, in any light that enables him to see even dimly.

Few figures in literature have the heart-reaching pathos of Kipling's ill-treated "Punch" careening against the furniture and bumping into things because his hours of surreptitious reading—the only joy in all his drab little hurried life—had impaired his eyesight. Punch of course was desperate and his circumstances were abnormal. But children have not the judgment nor the knowledge which would keep them from over-working and abusing their most precious possession, the most essential key to the externalities of life. Unless restrained and guided by parental authority, they read too steadily, in bad positions and with the light directly behind or in front of them (it should always come from the back, in a somewhat lateral direction) so that later they pay the penalty of nervousness, irritability and general physical disorganization even before the eyes themselves become uncomfortable. Very often drowsiness, slowness of comprehension, fractiousness and fidgety actions are signs of eyestrain that is indicted in no other way.

Like the members of a business organization, each part of the human machine is endowed with a certain amount of nerve energy. And just as the presence of a blundering, troublesome, inefficient person can demoralize a whole staff and is sure to put an undue amount of work and responsibility upon others, when a child's eyes are inefficient because of some weakness, they absorb more than their share of the total nerve energy and cause trouble by upsetting the physical balance. Hence the headaches, drowsiness, jumpiness and crossness evidenced by many children who are quite unaware that their eyes are making the mischief and so do not complain.

The extent to which defective eyesight is responsible for school failures is made plain by figures, published by the Eyesight Conversation Council of America, showing that out of one hundred thousand pupils who failed to pass in the public schools of one large city in a year, fifty thousand had defective vision and twenty-five thousand were desperately in need of glasses. Surely the fact that children can scarcely form correct mental concepts unless the correct image is conveyed from the eye to the brain cannot be overemphasized.

After a woman has discarded several husbands there is no more romance for her in life. At least Peggy Joyce says so, and she ought to know, as she has been much married. One of her husbands thought she married him for love.

Our sweet women aspiring for political honors did not find encouragement in the sad fate of Ma Ferguson, who tried to succeed herself as Governor of Texas, but was overwhelmingly defeated.

How Hubby's Gayety Was Tipped to Wifey

Walls have ears, so do wives. Echoes of how a wife, innocent as a lamb of her husband's foibles and gayeties, accidentally received a straight tip right direct from the lips of his paramour, will be heard in court soon, when application of legal separation will be heard. The paramour, tall and slender, and rooming in a certain apartment house, was on a shopping errand recently with a companion, and as they approached the haberdashery show cases of a certain department store Beulah, as the paramour is known, suddenly stopped, exclaiming:

"Oh, what handsome ties. I know Harry would appreciate a dozen."

Beulah and her companion, another tall beauty, daintily selected what they thought would please Harry's fancy.

"Harry loves that color effect," Beulah remarked, as she picked out a crimson-hued creation gorgeous enough to please a matinee idol.

Standing nearby, and only listlessly interested in the conversation between the two tall ladies, was a woman modestly costumed and having the outward appearance of being a very happy housewife. She too was selecting a necktie—not a whole dozen—for Harry, as was her custom to do such little favors for him. Harry is her husband, and she has a perfect right to buy a tie or anything else he may desire. By a quirk of fate, Harry's wife happened to be standing right next to Beulah as the latter ordered the dozen ties she bought to be sent to Harry —, giving his home address.

Imagine the surprise for Harry's wife, as she heard and saw the other woman order the dozen ties to be delivered to his house. For a moment she tried to gasp out what right the other woman had to send gifts to Harry. But words failed her. In a flash she pictured an inevitable scene, so she subdued her mortification, and decided upon strategy to solve this situation. She would hire a private detective. Was Harry guilty of infidelity?

The shocked wife's heart palpitated with burning thoughts of the "other woman," audacious enough to send presents direct to the home of her married lover.

Next evening Harry confronted a little surprise of his own as he entered the house. There, on a table in the living room was the package containing the dozen crimson-hued ties.

"Who sent those ties?" asked wifey, feigning innocence of the department store episode.

"Hanged if I know," Harry explained. "I presume some kind business friend was the kind benefactor."

Of course, Harry knew down deep in his heart where the ties came from.

Wifey again restrained her feelings of passionate anger, and allowed hubby to think he got away with it nicely. But hubby's happiness in that direction was of very short duration. His wife, another woman and a private detective trailed hubby to the apartments of Beulah, and there had the personal pleasure of telling hubby right to his face who bought those ties, and she made Beulah feel sheepish by proving that it was Beulah's own blunder in announcing out loud Harry's name that led to the exposure. The separation case will be heard in court in October.

Why not promote a swimming race for girls, Summerville to Cobourg? Who will be the first girl to swim across Lake Ontario? Surely there are some Trudie Ederles in Rochester.

No punishment is severe enough for the miscreant or fool who throws a bottle in the street or road.

Of all sad days the saddest is the day one returns from a vacation. Why don't "they" allow an extra week to prepare for the return to work or kitchen?

Greatest Music Season

THE Eastman Theater's fourth annual musical season program is resplendent with brilliant concerts. All the famous singers, musicians, dancers, orchestras, with few exceptions, are in the list. We congratulate General Manager Eric T. Clarke for making Rochester the music center of the world, a feat made possible by gifts from George Eastman.

Broad Street

BROAD Street, that magnificent testimonial of Rochester's progressiveness, is to be extended northward to Brown Street. It would be a blessing to the community if Broad Street could be extended beyond Brown Street and to the city line. Also, it would be a benefit to cross-town traffic if Broad Street was extended eastward from South Avenue straight through to Monroe Avenue. A second Broad Street is needed in Andrews Street.

Dental Dispensary the Best

THE splendid indorsement by a world-famous authority on dentistry of the Rochester Dental Dispensary as the largest and best of its kind opened the eyes of the community to the fact that Rochester leads in more ways than one. This dispensary is accomplishing worlds of good, especially among the children, and the philanthropists who made this dispensary possible are worthy of public praise.

Exposition Greatest Ever

ROCHESTER bids you welcome. Exposition Week is virtually Old Home Week. Thousands of former Rochesterians will return to their native city to visit relatives, friends and the Exposition. Also, thousands of persons living within one day's ride of Rochester will come here to see the exhibits, the incomparable Horse Show, to hear the glorious band concerts, to get a glimpse of how radio broadcasting is performed, to see the animal and poultry shows, the vegetables, flowers, fruit, automobiles, etc.

The Exposition will be greater than ever. Each exhibit is worth while. The Horse Show is an attraction de luxe. Go each day of the fair, and see everything.

Naming Streets

IT IS time to call a halt on the slipshod, uncontrolled system of naming streets. A city bureau should be created, or attached to the Park Department, and given power to regulate and control the names of streets. As it is, any name is attached to a street, and usually the family name of some person is honored. Names are duplicated, and there is confusion. Names of persons may be all right for streets, and probably is the only way some persons will attain—and retain—fame. Let the city O. K. a street name before the baptism.

Girls, Beware

SO MANY girls are being attacked in automobiles it may be expedient for the police to make an example of the young culprits who debase the streets of Rochester. The low character of some young men cannot be explained.

Monroe County fruit is eagerly sought. New York hotels are buying tomatoes grown here in the open. The demand for local-grown muskmelons exceeds the supply. No melon in the United States compares in quality and lusciousness. One fruit seller in Atlantic City is said to have made a quarter million fortune by slicing Monroe County melons into four parts and selling each portion, frosted with ice cream, at 50 cents. Peaches grown here also lead in flavor.

Good Perch Fishing in the Bay Soon

Fishermen will be delighted to read that the Monroe Fish and Game Association will resume its operations to deepen and widen the outlet, connecting Lake Ontario with Irondequoit Bay. A steam digger will be used to remove floating and stationary islands, so there will be an unobstructed current from the bay into the lake. The deep water will tempt lake perch to enter the bay, and this will assure excellent fishing. Lake perch average about a pound, and there is sport in catching them.

The Monroe Fish and Game Association will hold a meeting in The Osburn House Wednesday night, September 8, to which all sportsmen are invited. Pictures of game and fish haunts will be exhibited.

It is planned to place donation boxes in certain stores, thus affording the public opportunities to contribute to the fund needed for improving the bay outlet.

We believe what Harry Goodwin says to Jimmy Cuff, and intend to believe what Cuff says to Goodwin. Thanks for the buggy ride.

Here's a chance for hunters to get some sharp practice. Farmers in Chili and Greece townships complain of woodchucks destroying fields of muskmelons and also of sweet clover. Many farmers are inviting hunters to take potshots at the destructive little animals. The woodchuck feeds on greens and does not stray far from its underground home, as a rule. If properly prepared, the woodchuck is a choice morsel of food, exceeding the deer in flavor. Woodchuck steaks are served in many farm houses.

Clams! Clams! Clams! Rochester Elks will eat them, along with chicken, lobster, sweets, corn and many other good things at their annual clambake at Point Pleasant Wednesday, September 22. The pits open at 4 o'clock and service will continue until 8. Dancing will last until 10. Past Exalted Ruler Edward J. Ward is chairman and that should be sufficient guarantee that it will be some clambake. It is for Elks and their ladies only.

ALL EYES ON THE MAYOR

A son-in-law, if he is popular with his father-in-law, undoubtedly is entitled to most any favor "her father" may see fit to bestow. But, in the case of Mayor O'Neil, who seems determined to place a newly acquired relative by marriage in the shoes of Assistant United States Attorney James E. Cuff, it would seem that the Mayor is conferring a favor that may later prove an annoying political boom-erang.

The job of assistant United States attorney, in these days of prohibition and attempted enforcement, is loaded with dynamite. He is closely watched and opposed by the wets and as closely checked up and badgered for more by the dries. He invariably finds himself between two very warm fires and it takes a man of unusual cleverness and political sagacity to keep off the danger points.

Mr. Cuff, who is to resign, succeeded admirably in avoiding shoals, but it is doubtful if the Mayor's son-in-law, with much less worldly and legal experience, would be able to handle the job with equal success. If the son-in-law is appointed at the Mayor's insistence, the public will know about it, and knowing he is the Mayor's son-in-law, will undoubtedly place the blame for any unusual situations on the Mayor and the organization.

Always treat the "old man" as if he was really a member of the family instead of just a meal ticket for the others. The old man is a pretty good chap, as a rule, and if treated courteously will return the compliment with candy, theater tickets, etc.

FAT MEN, BEWARE

A lady writes, suggesting that we caution fat men to always keep their eyes straight ahead instead of gazing like a razorback farmer at tall buildings. This lady was justified in making this suggestion. She collided with a fat man who was looking at the New Lincoln-Alliance bank building, and she is nursing the wounds of that collision. It is dangerous for a slender person to bump into a fat man. Weight counts in collisions. Fat men accordingly will govern their ways and give others plenty of room.

YOU CAN'T TELL 'EM.

You can't tell a woman's age by her appearance. In Chicago the police enforced the Curfew Law, arresting all girls not sixteen years of age and not at home before 10 p. m. In the first night's raid the police arrested three grandmothers and fifteen mothers by mistake, and the women took the episode good naturedly. In fact, one, admitting she had seen fifty-nine summers, felt elated in being mistaken for a flapper. She is a grandmother, and insisted that her name be printed so everybody would read how young she looked. This woman had a boyish bob, wore a very abbreviated skirt, sported a hat more suitable for a girl in her 'teens, and was happy in the thought that she could fool the male eyes.

WILSON RESTAURANT OPENED

Wilson restaurant and chop house is opened. This will be good news to all-Rochester. For many months thousands of persons have been waiting for this opening. The Wilson restaurant, located at 92-94 Exchange Street, is in the heart of the downtown section. There is ample seating room for ladies and gentlemen.

The Wilson restaurant is owned by Harry Wilson, who has devoted his lifetime to restaurants and cafes. It is beautifully decorated, equipped with luxurious furniture, and its dining room service will be the last word in that direction. Assisting Mr. Wilson, and serving as chef, is Henry Gabel, who made Harry Bullock's restaurant famous from coast to coast with his service of savory steaks, chops, seafoods. Gabel will be in personal charge of the Wilson restaurant, and this means that his famous successes in Bullock's will be repeated in Exchange Street. In addition, a special drive will be made by Mine Host Wilson on poultry, lobsters, clams, oysters and of chops, serving each dish with the same appetizing flavor which characterized the foods in Bullock's.

Special noontime luncheons will be served for business men and women, and these luncheons will be more of a dinner than lunch. Mr. Gabel knows what the noontime demand is, and each day he will map a program to please the individual taste of patrons.

Hopi Indians dance when they want it to rain. Bet the Charleston steppers were responsible for the way it rained on picnic days this summer. What will the new Valencia dance bring, rain or snow?

TUNE IN FOR THIS FEATURE

Sax Smith, Ray Fagan and other orchestra leaders will have to perk up to hold their popularity. A new orchestra luminary is shining in the horizon, namely, Neil Golden, who will bring his orchestra to Rochester Sunday night for a date with WHEC, starting at 6:45 P. M. Radio fans will listen in at that time to enjoy this rare musical treat. The Neil Golden Californians, which is their professional name, are recommended as a very snappy orchestra. They have played at many famous ocean resorts, and the past summer they were the feature attraction at Dane' Inn, Geneva, giving concerts in a park there Tuesday nights also. Leader Golden has a very pleasing voice, and his singing was generously applauded. Carl Ferris, owner of Dane' Inn, will accompany the orchestra to Rochester. Miss Adelaide O'Brien, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will also sing. The opportunity to hear this snappy orchestra over WHEC will be appreciated by radio fans.

RADIO AT THE FAIR

Every Person Invited to Rubber In to See How WHEC Broadcasts

Although standard time officially will not become a reality until September 12, as far as the programs broadcasted from WHEC are concerned, the broadcasting hour will change on Labor Day, September 6. Beginning on Labor Day the Twilight Hour of the Rochester Journal will be changed back to 5 o'clock. Broadcasting at the Rochester Exposition will begin every day at 3 P. M. and continue until 11 each evening. From 3 to 4 o'clock Creator's Band and the Rochester Park Band will play; every day from 5 to 6 o'clock the Twilight Hour of the Rochester Journal and then continuous programs from 7 to 11 o'clock. This is the most elaborate schedule of broadcasting ever planned from any exposition. The beautiful studio being built for WHEC will allow lookers-on to witness what goes on in a regular broadcasting studio.

Park Band to Play

Herman Dossenbach Invites Radio Fans and Others To Send In Suggestions

Sunday evening band concerts broadcast from Genesee Valley Park have been one of the most outstanding bits of musical entertainment for local listeners of Station WHEC. This far-sighted plan on the part of the city of Rochester and the Park Department is only one of the many good things being planned by Mayor Martin B. O'Neil. Herman Dossenbach, conductor of the Park Band, has at all times during the summer been influenced while preparing his programs by the requests coming to him from listeners, either at Genesee Valley Park or radio fans. Last Sunday evening, the sacred concert found great favor and it was mostly made up of request numbers. In order to show his appreciation of the splendid support given him during the summer months, Leader Dossenbach is going to offer the last concert of the season as a pure request night. You are therefore asked to send your request numbers to Mr. Dossenbach at 1980 East Avenue or in care of Station WHEC. Any comment or any suggestions from any persons, whether radio fans or listeners at the Park, will be greatly appreciated.

Society is agitated because a man of fifty is to marry a girl one-half his age, with a million to her bank credit. Surely a man of fifty is not too old.

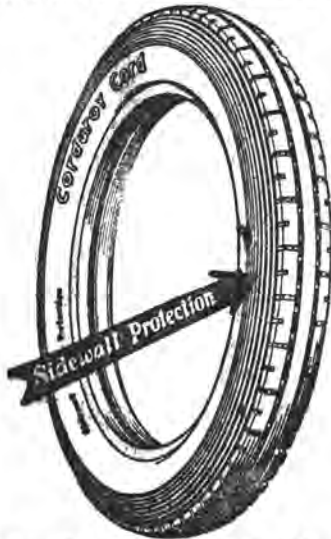

If they keep on passing around that nomination for governor, the Republicans may find it hard to find a man to accept it, and then they'll have to indorse Al Smith. It looks as if Al will be elected anyhow.

Man With the Pull

The man with a PULL wins. Without a pull you are out of luck. With a pull you may violate the law with impunity, laugh at the police, sneer at the courts, and hog the road to freedom and happiness. In the Police Court record is the name and address of a young man who had a pull. This young man, the son of a very prominent lawyer, was recently arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated, driving recklessly in Main street, and of not having a driver's license. Three policemen made the arrest, and all were ready to testify that the accused drove through Main street at 52 miles an hour. Ordinarily, an arrest of this character is given generous space in newspapers, but a PULL suppressed this interesting news.

If a poor man, without a pull, had been involved the papers probably would have "played it up" for a column. The young man with a PULL spent a few hours in a cell, and was then released on $250 bail, produced by friends. The trial was adjourned, and when the case was subsequently reached on the calendar, two of the charges, reckless driving and not having license, were withdrawn because the young man had a PULL. To intensify the power of this PULL it is only necessary to refer to the record, which shows he did not even appear in court, but was allowed to forfeit the $250 bail.

Seldom, indeed, is a person accused of driving while intoxicated permitted to forfeit bail. The records show that persons convicted of that crime had to serve thirty days each in the penitentiary.

Oh, how beautiful the PULL is. The man with a PULL may look upon the law with disdain, as only applying to the man WITHOUT a PULL.

Moral: Get a PULL, and then look on the law with contempt or scorn.

The overcoat makes the man. Dry agents found sixteen pints in one coat.

LUDKE A CREDIT TO POLICE FORCE

Herman F. Ludke is a plain policeman, and seeks no other glory than to wear the uniform and to serve his fellow citizens. Twenty-five years of Ludke's life are recorded in police work, and there is not a blemish on it. That is the type of policemen the public appreciates. Ludke is a credit to the department. Police work does not bring rich returns, financially, and if Ludke continues as a policeman another quarter-century, and he probably will, he will be older, but not wealthier, at the end of that period. It is impossible to attain opulence as an honest policeman. If Ludke had pursued a different path to wealth he probably would be enumerated today among our financially prosperous set, for he is one of the strongest men in the world. Few persons know that Ludke is the physical match of two ordinary men, and can lift or carry a barrel of flour as if it were a toothpick. Once upon a time a certain man claimed in Police Court that Ludke had punched him in the jaw. Judge Willis K. Gillette, then Police Magistrate, could not restrain a smile when he heard this complaint.

"Why, if Ludke had given you a vicious swing on the jaw, as you claim, he would have knocked you into eternity, and you would not be standing before me now," was Judge Gillette's comment.

Ludke, in his youth, could have won worldwide fame as a wrestler, and he shakes a wicked arm today.

These are the days for lightning-like changes. A bride changed her affections from the groom-to-be to the best man, so the groom-to-be changed places with the best man, the latter becoming the groom. Now the jilted chap says he will look for another bride, who will not change her mind, or at least promised not to, at the last minute.

A British tourist says American husbands spend too much time and money on their wives. But it's hard to convince 'em of that.

Was Too Hasty to Marry Second Time

Rochester Man Now Faces the Predicament of Having Two Wives, and Must Support Both

Dissatisfied husbands who plan to rid themselves of incompatible wives through divorce proceedings in other states should take a little tip from the experience of one Rochester man who went through the California divorce mill, married again and now finds he must pay alimony to No. 1 while he is supporting No. 2.

The first marriage, contracted in Michigan in 1902, resulted in nineteen years of incessant battling. Hubby finally packed his belongings and fled to California. He brought suit on the grounds of desertion, but the California judge threw the case out of court. He tried again, charging cruel and inhuman treatment, and won a decree last December. The wife appeared, but did not defend the suit.

His freedom was brief, for he broke all records for transcontinental traveling back to Rochester, where he led a second blushing bride to the altar. But his haste was his undoing, for he neglected to read a clause in the California decree providing that it should not become final until a year after it was granted.

Taking advantage of this technicality, wife No. 1 now has brought suit in Monroe County courts for a divorce on her own hook, charging the man with adultery and naming the second wife as corespondent. Pending trial of the suit, a court recently awarded liberal alimony and counsel fees to the first wife. If he had waited the year for his second bride, he would have been free to wed and let his old love paddle her own canoe.

Yes, reader, you can tell a bootlegger by the clothes he wears. A real bootlegger is the best dressed man in town.

I SAW

Hon. James G. Cutler, who loves to be called "Jimmy" by his familiars, stand at Main and Stone streets, gazing at the magnificent new structure of the Lincoln-Alliance bank, of which Mr. Cutler has been identified all his business life. There was a perceptible smile on Mr. Cutler's countenance as he looked at that majestic monument to the bank's growth and thrift, and the smile was justified; that building is as handsome as any in the United States.

Another banker, William J. Simpson, president of the Genesee Valley Trust company, but he was not looking at buildings. Instead, he was driving fence posts into a lot in Shoremont, a new tract along the lakeshore, west of Charlotte. Attired in a neat outfit of white duck pants, leggings like a golfer affects, with shoes, shirt and cap to match, Simpson looked out of place driving in fence posts. It is a farmhand's job, but Simpson loves outdoor exercise, and he is not afraid to tackle any job in a backyard or on a farm.

And he worked as dexterously as a professional fence builder, and I admired his skill. If ever Simpson quits his banking job I'll recommend him for fence construction.

While strolling along the Manitou Ponds a new candidate for horseshoe pitching honors. None other than Allan R. Palmer. The way he pitched the horseshoes at Willow Beach convinced me that if Palmer enters the Expo horse shoe pitching contest my money goes on him. Bet he can make a "ring" three out of five times.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S BEST FRIEND

Housewives, as a rule, are discerning and discriminating. No other part of human activity absorbs so much of a woman's attention as housework, the kitchen especially. That is why women are particular about the kind of heater to use. The right kind saves time and labor. One-half of a housewife's time is spent in the kitchen, preparing foods, and she knows that good cooking spells happiness. Here is where the famous Red Cross gas range enters the picture. The Red Cross range is manufactured right here in Rochester by the Co-operative Foundry Company, which is a guarantee of high quality. "Good cooking made certain," is the motto of the Red Cross makers.

This freedom from cooking worries is certainly enjoyed. With a Red Cross gas range the proper temperature is reached and maintained, the kitchen remains cool, and the range adds beauty to the color effects of the house. It is worthy of the finest kitchen.

The baking oven in Red Cross gas ranges—except the three-burner style—have cast iron oven bottoms. This gives a more even distribution of heat for baking and prevents the bottom from rusting through or burning out. These ovens are also double walled and asbestos insulated to retain the heat.

Removable oven linings make frequent cleaning easy. Because of this feature, the ovens in Red Cross gas ranges can be kept sweet and clean, even after years of use. The linings are porcelain enameled on enamel finish ranges and finished in aluminum on semi-enamel and ebonite models.

Three regular cooking burners, one giant and one simmering burner are Automatic lighter is furnished on all 400 G and W series ranges, and may be installed on all other models as an extra. All burners are instantly removable—they may be lifted out and washed frequently, which insures their efficient and economical operation.

AIR LINE A CERTAINTY

Air transportation will be as general as is steam and electric line traffic today, in the opinion of many railway experts. Thomas E. Mitten, owner of Philadelphia's street car system, and also in control of Buffalo's street car interests, is quoted as predicting general air transportation in a few years. So confident is Mitten of air lines succeeding that he is prepared to assume active management of a cross-country air line. Mitten is a far-seeing electric magnate, and the fact that he thinks persons, mail and freight will be carried by airplanes indicates that even with the increase in number of motor trucks and automobiles that there will be enough business for the air.

Splitting Republican Party Is the Dry Game

Congressman Hamilton Fish Coming to Convention Hall to Carry the Fight Against Senator Wadsworth. Judge Remington May Run for Congress

Evidently the dries plan to carry the wet-dry fight right into wets' home territory. For instance, Congressman Hamilton Fish, ultra dry, will speak in Convention Hall next Thursday night on "Liquor Law Enforcement," and he probably will repeat his savage attack on Senator Wadsworth. Judge Harvey F. Remington also will speak at the Convention Hall meeting. It is probable that Judge Remington will run as a dry for the Republican nomination for Congress, against Jimmy Cuff and Harry C. Goodwin. In a three-cornered fight, Goodwin would stand a good chance to win, as he has declared himself as a wet. Cuff is also a wet, and will favor amendment to the Volstead Law to allow sale of pure beer and wines.

Congressman Fish is a fiery speaker, and in invading Senator Wadsworth's home territory, he will embarrass the young Livingston County statesman. The wets and dries in the Republican party are at each other's throats already, and Fish's talk will intensify the bitter feeling. It is evident that the party will be hopelessly split, making it easy for Al Smith to succeed himself. The booze issue is the most important, and, as Harry Goodwin says, voters are entitled to know where and how candidates stand.

The Citizens' League, a dry unit, will support only dries, and they are urging Judge Remington to hurl his hat into the political ring. If he does, Cuff may not get the nomination, even if he is the organization candidate, inasmuch as Remington and Goodwin are well known. With this bitter factional fight, which will not cease on primary election day, Congressman Meyer Jacobstein will have a walk-over unless the Republicans succeed in pouring oil on their troubled waters.

Senator Jim Whitley is another target for the dries, and they are trying to induce one of their kind to run against the Senator, either for the regular nomination or as an independent. But the Senator's district is emphatically and decisively moist, so he will be renominated and re-elected. The repeated successes of Russell Griffith, in the First Assembly District, proved that this district, largely rural, was very wet. This indicated that the farmers are veering from dry to wet.

Life Perfect Hell for Honest Official

Major Roberts Breaks His Silence and Says an Enforcement Agent Has a Tough Time, and His Life Is in Danger

Breaking the long silence that he has maintained, Major Eugene C. Roberts, Jr., who resigned as prohibition administrator for the western and northern districts of New York, said that his life had been a perfect hell and that he was glad to be done with the job.

Major Roberts left for a long motor trip, declaring that he was going to try and forget the whole business of prohibition enforcement.

"I think this has been the hardest year of my life," said Major Roberts. "When a man grows up he has friends and acquaintances in many walks of life. Almost from the minute I took office last October they have come to me saying they hoped I was going to remember my friends. I had foreseen some of the difficulties attached to the job, and it was one of the biggest decisions of my life to take it.

"I have been approached by bribers, I have been threatened, slandered orally and by letter; I have been called to the telephone at all hours of the night by friend and foe; I have worried, I admit it, and I think my father, well along in years, has worried even more. It has been a perfect hell, and I am glad to be done with it. Almost every day some filthy letter would come to me, anonymous, of course, calling me a fool, a coward and worse, or threatening me.

"It has come to me that friends have said, 'I thought Roberts was all right until he took that job,' but I don't think my worst enemy can say I made a dime dishonestly while I held the job. I determined if I was going to be dry I was going to be all dry, and I was the butt of many a stale joke at dinners where a cocktail was served.

"Bribers I have unceremoniously thrown out of my office. I suppose incurring their lifelong enmity. But I did my job as I thought it should be done, and I think I made Western New York dryer than it has been at any time since prohibition. Now I am going to try to forget the whole business of prohibition enforcement."

Clark has arranged a gala program of screen and musical features of a sufficiently diversified nature to have something of appeal for all tastes.

GLORIA SWANSON in "Fine Manners" heads the gala anniversary week program at the Eastman

Heading the screen part of the bill is Gloria Swanson in her newest picture, "Fine Manners," a modern comedy drama that gives the gorgeous Gloria opportunity to rise from the antics of a slangy East Side burlesque actress to a lady of fashion.

Her name is Orchid O'Toole and she appeared nightly in a cheap burlesque. Aristocratic, rich Brian Vanderoon saw her first in a public dance hall and loved her at first sight. There the story begins—the creation of a perfectly mannered society lady from the little gamin of the Bowery.

There will be an elaborate birthday divertissement, specially arranged for the occasion. Stage features will include a colorful dance specialty, "The Birthday Cake," presented by Thelma Biracree, Marion Tefft, Jean Hurvitz and Philena Resseger, and the popular old time musical comedy favorite, "Two Little Love Bees," sung by Brownie Peebles and Richard Halliley. Other screen topics will be a color film novelty called "Crystals," a cartoon, "The Family Album," Eastman News Events and several film novelties of a surprising nature.

The overture for the week by the Eastman Orchestra will be Thomas' overture, "Mignon," Victor Wagner and Guy Fraser Harrison conducting.

REGENT

Not content with being empress of the Hula Dance and the greatest box office attraction of the Follies in several years, Gilda Gray has gone the way of other great stage celebrities and has turned to the films for new laurels. Her first venture, a poignant drama of tropical love called "Aloma of the South Seas," comes to the Regent Sunday, September 5, for its initial performance of the week.

The story finds Gilda in the atmosphere and costumes in which she became famous. It is a colorful tale of the coral reefs and the sweeping tropical sea with Gilda as a dusky belle of Paradies Island who falls in love with a discouraged and down-at-the-heel white youth who is drinking himself to death to forget an unfaithful sweetheart. Despite the warnings of her native lover, Aloma goes to "keep hut" for the white man and falls in love with him. They plan to get married with all native marriage honors.

But on that day the white man's former sweetheart and her band come to Paradise Island. The scenes that ensue when they meet hold a tremendous dramatic power and work toward a powerful climax which takes place during a tropical hurricane.

Warner Baxter, Percy Marmont, William Powell are included in the large cast.

Another smart comedy musical act that comes here with a reputation for originality and freshness will be the stage feature for the week. It bears the title, "An Original Comedy Oddity," and is presented by Stutz and Bingham. Other screen attractions complete the bill for the week.

PICCADILLY

With a number of special musical selections by the new Piccadilly Jazz Orchestra and an attractive and well varied list of screen features supplemental to the photoplay attraction, Richard Barthelmess in "The Amateur Gentleman," the Piccadilly program, beginning Sunday, September 5, assumes an unusual degree of popular appeal.

In "The Amateur Gentleman" Barthelmess is said to have the most appealing and likeable role he has had since his memorable "Classmates." The picture is based on the novel by Jeffrey Farnol and whisks its audiences back to the highly romantic and adventurous days of the Regency in England of 1817.

Dorothy Dunbar, charming new "find" is leading woman.

Supplementary feature for the fore part of the week includes a comedy, a film novelty, "Swimmers and Swimming," a jazz overture by the Piccadilly Jazz Orchestra, Arthur Newberry conducting.

The program will undergo a change on Thursday, the feature for the week-end being "Mismates," a daring drama of modern day married life that is said to have a stirring and timely appeal. Doris Kenyon is the principal star. An organ solo, an overture by the new orchestra, a comedy, "Creeps," and other short topics complete the supplementary program for the week-end.

Week-day morning matinees will show the complete feature; seats from 11 A. M. to 1 P. M. selling for 15c. Regular Sunday performances are at 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9 P. M., with musical features coming on shows at 3, 5, 7 and 9 P. M.

New York critics pronounced "Lucky Sambo" the fastest dancing show seen on Broadway since "Shuffle Along," and superior to it in some respects. Which is high praise.

Julia Moody, assisted by Ernest R. Whitman, starts the big ensemble numbers with "June," which has a jazzy waltz refrain, made the most of by Jim Vaughan and his band of jazzhounds.

Ernest R. Whitman, the lead, has a pleasing baritone and is a marvelous whistler. He adds materially to the success of the "The Big Parade." Billy Higgins and Joe Byrd are comedians needing no introduction. Hilda Perleno, prima donna; Bereleana Blanks and Amanda Randolph please in their songs. Others in the big cast are Al F. Watts, Arthur Porter, John Alexander, Lolita Hall, George Phillips, an acrobatic dancer of great skill, and Cora Winters.

CORINTHIAN

"Kuddling Kuties" will cuddle themselves into popular fancy at The Corinthian the week of September 6. This is a real snappy burlesk company, with June Rhoades as topline. Max Fields, leading burlesk artist, claims the chorus of "Kuddling Kuties" is the most beautiful and gorgeous on the road.

2,000,000 Persons Eastman Theatre Record

Greatest Attendance in History of That Theater Reported by Manager Clarke

This is fourth anniversary week for Eastman Theater. In honor of that glorious occasion, a souvenir program has been issued by authority of General Manager Eric L. Clarke and Arthur P. Kelly, publicity man. The Eastman Theater opened September 2, 1922, and so far 8,000,000 persons have attended the Eastman screen presentations. In the year just ended 2,000,000 persons witnessed the picture shows there.

Manager Clarke publicly acknowledges that the gratifying response from the public pleased Mr. Eastman and his associates in this magnificent theater. Manager Clarke said:

"More than 2,000,000 people came to the Eastman motion picture presentations during the year ending September 1st, establishing the best attendance record since the theater opened four years ago. The steady growth in public interest has made our whole organization happy. We hope this coming season to make the programs even more attractive."

initial bow. We enjoy more advantages. I have seen the trolley cars come, the telephone, radio, electricity, automobiles and airplanes, too. In my boyhood days they were glad to have horse cars. And when we used to take our best girls out for a buggy ride they thanked us from the bottom of their hearts for the buggy ride. Now a girl protests unless you have a swell sedan.

"Life may be one darn thing after another, but there is no reason for anybody not reaching the century mark of life. We have health bureaus to prevent disease, science keeps germs away, foodstuffs are prepared under sanitary conditions, improved plumbing keeps the interior wholesome, and the radio, moving pictures and refined vaudeville of today serve to keep one merry. That prolongs life. The smile makes you live longer. Try it. I may be a sort of Couie in urging persons to smile more. You never see me look dejected, not even the morning after. I learned to smile, and believe in smiling my way through life. I can even smile when imposing a fine of $10. There is only one time when I do not smile. That is when I see some brainless nut having his arm around a giddy girl and trying to operate a car at the same time. It can't be done—in Irondequoit. I encourage, but there's a time and place for it."

Smile, the Philosophy of Justice Buyck

Says If You Smile Through Life You Will Live Longer and Happier

This is the day (Sept. 4) of all days for Justice Isaac Buyck. It is his 70th birthday anniversary, and about 400 of his friends will gather at Bay View to help celebrate the affair. Justice Buyck enjoys a wide friendship, and he also has the honor of being the oldest justice in service in New York state, having served as Justice of the Peace in Irondequoit for 38 years.

"Eat, drink and be merry is my motto," declared Justice Buyck, as a preliminary to the celebration. "Do not worry, not even over politics, nor what you think others are thinking. Satisfy your own conscience, and be happy. I have learned from experience that worry causes more human suffering than anything else. Thousands of persons have told me so. A woman will worry about what her husband is doing, or where he is, and she accumulates gray or white hairs for nothing. Husbands will go where they please, regardless of how their wives worry.

"Seriously, I think this is a better world than it was the day I made my

REFORMERS DROVE HONEST MAN OUT

Reformers drove Major Eugene C. Roberts, of Buffalo, out of the Volstead law enforcement, the Major resigning as administrator because of the interference of his work by high brows. This is what Major Roberts said:

"If I shot a bootlegger dead in my office they (the reformers) would ask me why I didn't burn the body. That shows how fanatical they are; you can't satisfy them no matter how much you do. They are always hounding one to do more. The reformer is the biggest nuisance."

Same old story of fanatics demanding that others live as they do. Such narrow-minded, prejudiced bigots should be placed on an island by themselves. They construct their own Thou Shalt Nots, but seldom practice what they preach.

DISPENSARY THE LARGEST

Rochester leads again. Dr. Ernest Jessen, German doctor of medicine and dentistry, and the world's greatest authority on preventive dentistry, was a recent visitor to the Rochester Dental Dispensary in Main street, and pronounced it the largest and most wonderful institution of its kind in the world. Similar expressions were made by 125 foreign dentists who also inspected the Dispensary.

Another Chinese tong war is on. It has nothing on the Joseph avenue tong war. We heard one tongue war there in five different languages simultaneously, and looked for a map of Europe to see where we were at.

Why call women the weaker sex? Two girls swam the English channel, and five men failed the same week. Only one man accomplished the trick, a German baker by trade, and when he landed he beat it immediately to the bakery because he feared he was late for work.

George Eastman is coming back from Africa, burdened with the skeletons of hundreds of wild animals he shot. Perhaps that's why Eastman stock is going up.

There are two kinds of fish. One kind swims in the water, the other kind hangs around the diningroom door.

We are pleased to inform the clubwoman who phoned that she felt displeased at a little comedy on married women in these pages that we will be pleased to publish the humorous side of a married man's life also, if there is humor in his life. Of course, there is comedy in every family not burdened with a crape hanger. Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone.

Stay away from card sharks. A Western New Yorker, visiting the Atlantic coast, was taken in by two sharks for $600. That is why he hastened home. Card sharks follow picnics at times.

NEW NASH CARS MAKE HIT

G. Norton Mortimore is justly happy and proud. The new Nash made a hit. G. Norton distributes Nash cars, and the newly developed special six line of this company comprises five models in open and closed body styles, and powered by the new seven bearing crankshaft motor, termed by engineers as the ultra-modern type of motor. It is an achievement in motor engineering, and its power smoothness, and greater power, will be appreciated by motorists.

The exterior attractiveness of these new Nash models is artistically heightened by the use of a new duotone finish of contrasting colors.

In these new special six cars—as has been standard Nash practice for some time—the motor is heavily insulated from the frame through use of rubber insulation at the motor supports.

There is also featured on these new motors a new crankcase "breather," an ingenious device which functions to prevent crankcase dilution. This "breather" also serves to keep the driving compartment free from heat and odor. Nash likewise draws attention to a new design motor muffler which contributes importantly to the quietness of the engine.

The new instrument board is indirectly illuminated and all instruments are deftly grooved in a single panel under glass.

Nash provides with these new models double filament headlights controlled from the steering wheel, enabling the driver at will to throw a strong beam straight ahead or downward directly in front of the car. A new thermostatic device regulating circulation of water functions to control the motor heat so that the proper driving temperature is maintained continually.

The upholstery of the Sedan models is of mohair velvet and as standard equipment on all models, four wheel brakes, five disc wheels, and three purifying devices, namely, gasoline filter, air cleaner, and an oil purifier.

Now that a judge has ruled a married man is entitled to one night a week with the boys, and needn't tell where he has been, it is up to hubby to get what he is entitled to, and no more.

We feel obliged for these cool nights which are terrible on mosquitoes. The Seneca Park brand of skeeter is closely related to the Jersey kind, which attains the size of a hummingbird, and the ferocity of a tigress.

Now they're going to teach facial expressions. We will enter that old bird in Dewey avenue, whose face usually resembles a hacksaw working backwards.

City Court Judge Patrick J. Keeler's sentence of eight motorists to thirty days in the penitentiary because they did not possess drivers' licenses stirred Buffalo, where Judge Keeler presides, and his decision was upset by two County Judges, who ordered the offenders to be released on the ground that the penalty was too severe. Five days and a $50 fine would be sufficient.

Just because women will not wear them, corsets are being forced on men. Picture a jolly bird trying to fasten himself into a perfect 58.

It will be sad news to many that Irondequoit's celebrated muskmelon crop was seriously damaged by lice of a strange character. Only thirty per cent of the expected yield will go to market. Many gardeners will cease growing muskmelons.

COUNTRY'S BIGGEST INDUSTRY

There are 20,233 moving picture theaters in the United States, and hundreds of new ones are planned. The average weekly attendance is 90,000,000 persons. Film studio salaries amount to $80,000,000 a year, and 60,000 persons are stockholders in movie houses. The films shown daily would stretch 25 miles. In 1925, 823 feature pictures were made.

Some young men are too particular. For instance, an eligible young man living near Olean advertised for a life partner, and listed among the capabilities that he had a good job, would be a liberal provider, let "her" do the spending. But, he demanded, she must be a good cook, homeloving, singlestepper, very economical, and never go out nights without him. So far he hasn't received one answer.
